Carnival Beast Terrorizes Town Following Escape

BY A. B. GRIMM
Bulletin Correspondent
RYCROFT, July 24.—A 750-pound African lion, roaring defiance, was killed by a fusillade of bullets on the main street of this Peace River town early today after he had terrorized residents for over an hour.

The lion, biggest of three in the visiting Leader Show of Edmonton carnival man A. J. Oby, escaped from its cage about 3:30 a.m. and passed within 15 feet of three sleeping carnival hands as it made its way across.

A few minutes later it appeared before startled eyes of early risers on town's main street.

The scolding animal was shot by town residents Harry Cobo and Jerry Dika and RCMP Constable O. Poll after the jungle lord had repeatedly refused to reenter its cage and turned away from fresh meat placed in back of the cage.

2 Hard Blows At Yank Lines

TOKYO, July 25.—(Tuesday)—North Korean invaders were attacking Monday all along a 150-mile front from Taejon eastward to the coastal town of Yongdok, but "continued to be repulsed" by United States and South Korean defenders, General MacArthur's headquarters reported early today.

Field dispatches described two hard assaults on separate American defence lines deep along back roads in rugged south-central Korea.

A third Communist column had swept south along the west coast to Kwangju, near the southwest tip of Korea, in a broad flanking threat.

Despatches from the front late Monday night said North Korean pressure mounted steadily all day against American lines astride the Taejon-Yongdok highway, while 20 to 30 miles northeast another drive was in progress, prying out along three roads.

On the Yongdok front, AP correspondent Hal Boyle reported Communist infantry at one time got behind advanced American positions and threw up a mortar-backed road block.

This serious threat in the area southwest of Taejon was cleaned out in two hours with aid of American tanks and artillery, Boyle reported.

U.S. Tanks In Action

"We didn't need it; we sent the tanks to clean it up," he quoted an artillery commander. This was one of the rare references made to American tanks.

Boyle added, however, that North Korean frontal pressure was still mounting, with steady artillery and mortar firing all Monday afternoon.

North and northeast of Yongdok, a force identified as the North Korean 2nd Infantry division pushed its three-pronged attack on other defending positions.

One 2nd division column reached 20 miles north of Yongdok. American planes and ground troops were credited with knocking out a North Korean tank column about 100 feet in front of the front as running generally from west to east as follows:

From Kwangju in southwest Korea, 28 miles northeast to Namsan, 20 miles northeast through Chinn, thence to ponds eight miles northwest of Yongdok, northeastward to a point four miles south of Chinn, then two miles north of Yecheon, two miles south of Yeonju, and thence to the east coast two miles south of Shindong.

MacArthur's report said Red tank-infantry teams ranged as far southwest as the outskirts of Mopo, a south Korean naval base 40 miles southwest of Kwangju.

The Markets At a Glance

TORONTO, July 24.—(CP)—Base metal stocks bucked a mild downward trend on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. A few leading base metals climbed slightly in the very dull dealings while the remainder of market weakened from last week's strong advances.

Volume was about $55,000 shares.

Gains doubled losses in base metals with key stocks like Consolidated Smelters, International Nickel, Noranda and Quamant leading the upturn.

Normal exploration, a feature last week, continued in brisk demand. Anasac trend was also actively traded.

Base metals were strong with Aluminum Limited rising close to two points, Noranda was up a point and St. Lawrence Corporation more than a point.

Canada Goes Into Mourning Over Mackenzie King's Death

(Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King's life story in words and pictures on Pages 6 and 7.)
By GUYO BLACKBURN
OTTAWA, July 24.—(CP)—Canada today mourned the loss of one of her most illustrious sons, William Lyon Mackenzie King whose influence largely shaped the country's destiny in the last 50 years.

The veteran statesman, the bachelor who was prime minister longer than any other man in any British Commonwealth, died late Saturday evening.

Last Thursday he had a recurrence of the pulmonary disturbance which had bothered him for years, developed acute pneumonia and soon passed into coma.

His life, which began in what now is Kitchener, Ont., 75 years ago last December, was the story of Canada's growth to nationhood in the first half of the century.

Prime Minister St. Laurent, chosen by Mr. King as his successor when he left public life in 1948, said the death marked the end of what historians will call "the Mackenzie King era."

ALL SUMMER HOME
Mr. King died at his summer home at Kingston, a lakeside community in the Gatineau Hills of Quebec about 29 miles from Ottawa.

He had been ill since a heart and circulation ailment sent him to bed five months while he was attending the conference of commonwealth prime ministers in London in the fall of 1949.

MOM, POP AT RACES

MOM'S STAKE
$65.55
Well, didn't fare so well as the Exhibition, race meet came to a close at Edmonton, Saturday. My today was really outlandish in the big feature race, so far as another two bucks. But now today 12.5 off in Saskatoon, a week and today I like Calandria in the seventh to place, and tomorrow I'll be a stake in place on Gay Paris.

POP'S STAKE
$75.45
The Mom didn't do so well at the Exhibition, Saturday. My today was really outlandish in the fourth on Royal Pilot. But today was really outlandish in the sixth for the first meet and in the sixth I like Duo Little to win, or two bucks. And for tomorrow I like Shake Again to win again. It's an old story, Mom, in Edmonton, Saturday, and should do so again tomorrow.

Franconia Pilot To Be Suspended

At Home
J. C. Leonard, deputy minister of transport, said at Ottawa the pilot of the 20,000-ton liner Franconia when it grounded off the island of Oahu in Quebec Harbor July 12. Length of the suspension will be decided by Transport Minister Cheverie. He now has in his hands all the information obtained in a preliminary inquiry conducted into the grounding by the department.

A wide variety of mishaps—drownings, traffic, fires and falls—look the province of persons in eastern Canada during the weekend. A Canadian Press count of fatalities from midnight Friday to early Monday included eight persons drowned, nine killed by traffic accidents and two each by fires, falls and train.

By a majority decision of the full bench of the Nova Scotia supreme court, the provincial election in West Hants, June 9, has been declared void.

Decision was handed down at Halifax with Mr. Justice J. Duall of the five-man court. In the election, George B. Cole, Liberal, was elected by one vote, but by a majority of 100 votes, after he had been elected by George H. Wilson, Progressive Conservative, on a recount.

The sum of $100,000 from accumulated surplus has been transferred from the Toronto Star Limited to the Canadian Charitable Foundation as a capital fund. Announcement came in a statement from the executives and trustees of the late J. E. Atkinson's will, directors of the Star, and chairman of the foundation. The Atkinson will left the newspaper trust for the foundation, and ultimately to belong to him.

Korean Speech Forced By Communist Threats

SOMEWHERE IN KOREA.—(UPI)—Belgium from Communist Seoul said today that one of the city's respected citizens had agreed to make a radio speech prepared by the Communist conquerors on their threat to kill his grandsons.

He was identified as aged 80 Son Chong, one of the city's oldest residents. Declaration of Independence in 1919 who also spent years in Japanese jails.

The refugees said the "People's Army" called on him to make the speech.

U.S. 8th AIR HEADQUARTERS, Korea.—(AP)—A South Korean army officer said today the Northern invaders are draining the country's available manpower by sending school children to work in the war.

Col. Lee Sun Keun, former dean of Seoul University law school, said children as young as 13 years of age were summoned in Seoul and then impressed into military service.

Several times he seemed about to re-enter then drew back at the last moment and faced about, snarling.

During his period of freedom, he ripped a pile of cardboard containers to shreds.

Most of the townsfolk slept through the excitement. Those who did not were watched from behind locked doors.

Barge Explosions Laid to Sabotage

Prime Minister Tells House Portsmouth Blast Well-Planned

LONDON, July 24.—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Attlee told parliament today the blowing up of nine ammunition barges at Portsmouth naval base July 14 was due to sabotage.

It has not yet been possible to establish who did it, he added.

Attlee said the fire which led to the explosion was "caused maliciously by some person or persons unknown."

But enough was known about the means employed to show that they were based on considerable scientific knowledge and were carefully calculated for their effect, he added.

"The incident thus constitutes an act of sabotage," he declared. Further inquiries are being made.

No one was killed in the explosion which touched off a series of terrific blasts and a raging fire. Seven persons were injured—none of them seriously. The blast shattered hundreds of windows and were felt four miles away.

United States for his part in the rebellion but ultimately succeeded in 1937.

In his life he had many political disappointments, personal defects at the polls and two defeats of the government he led, but he also won unprecedented victories.

Few understood Mr. King or knew him well; but he possessed an understanding of the Canadian mind greater than many realized.

Mr. King entered public life in 1901. He became the first deputy minister of labor and in 1908 assumed cabinet rank with the labor portfolio. Except for four years between 1914 and 1918 when he was with the Rockefeller Foundation, Mr. King was prominent in Canada's public life.

He first became prime minister in 1921 at the age of 45, 13 years after he was first elected to the house of commons as member for the Ontario riding of Waterloo North.

He was re-elected in 1925 and 1929 following the stalemate election in 1925 but came back the following year. Then his Liberal party was defeated in 1930 and was out of office for five years.

The 1932 general election victory launched a 12-year stretch that closed out his record.

Early in 1938 he indicated he wished St. Laurent, the man who brought him into politics as justice minister in 1941, to succeed him as party leader in 1942, to succeed him as prime minister in November, 1948. He was then almost 74.

A Great Canadian

Death has come to William Lyon Mackenzie King at the close of a career so closely identified with the history of Canada that it is almost impossible to separate the growth of this country that one cannot but feel that, in dying, the great prime minister has caused Canada to die a little, too.

Louis St. Laurent has said, with notable truth, that Mr. King dominated his age as completely as any leader in history, viewing all things dispassionately in perspective, will label the prolonged interval during which he held office as the "Mackenzie King epoch."

It would be hypocritical and belittling to say, at this moment, that Canadians entertained a warm personal affection for Mr. King because he essentially retiring nature did not encourage intimacy.

The truth is that his friendship was the friendship of the mind and these intellectual companionships were many and cordial.

To the masses of Canadians, the former prime minister was an aloof and even remote figure which commanded respect and admiration rather than the clamorous devotion which sometimes lesser men are able to inspire.

Those Itinerant Bureaucrats

Officials of the department of national health and welfare will spend more than $1,500,000 for publicity, travel and "sun-dries" in 1950-51.

Just what the "sun-dries" include is not clear, but for the purpose of providing a cool $211,000 for this purpose, Publicity will take care of another $524,000, and $773,000 will go for travel.

Health Minister Martin says that all these expenditures are necessary. What he does not say, in specific terms, is why officials of his department have to do so much travelling.

A good many people can travel many miles for $773,000.

Mr. Martin's argument that the de-

There were and always will be wide divisions of opinion about the efficacy of his domestic policy.

But in the field of international relationships, not even his most unrelenting political opponent could disparage the sweep and genius of his leadership.

Mr. King was head of the Canadian government during a time in Canada's history when this country graduated from virtual infancy to national adulthood and independence.

This transition could easily have been accomplished with violent reactions. It was due to Mr. King's consummate statesmanship that the Statute of Westminster, which pronounced the verity of Canada's complete independence, was accompanied by a minimum relaxation of the imperial tie.

It was his statescraft, too, that steadily promoted Canada in the esteem of the world when this country's independence became an actual fact.

As minister of external affairs in his own cabinet, Mr. King's vision for Canada the respect of all nations.

No man has had a more potent hand in the shaping of Canada's character.

partments of national health and welfare spend less on travel than a good many other departments in the government.

Taxpayers are entitled to know what sort of officials are doing the travelling, whether their expenses are really necessary, and what benefits the taxpayers of Canada derive from this constant flitting to and fro.

Thoughtful citizens who ponder this enormous travelling bill cannot help wondering how much better it would be if, instead of going for plane fares and hotel bills, part at least of the money could be spent directly for aiding a crippled child, or for furthering research in poliomyelitis.

to broadcast nonsense calculated to weaken the morale of the army. This performance only increased British bitterness against the Nazis.

It is an instance of how utterly apart are the totalitarian and democratic mentalities.

Naive Psychology of the Reds

In one respect the naive of the communists exceeds the naive of Hitler's Nazis.

And that is in believing that the broadcast and message of the communists to officers urging an American surrender can have any possible effect on the American determination to win the Korean war.

Let His Majesty Decide Alone

It is thought unlikely in Ottawa that Viscount Alexander of Tunis will be able to accept a second term as governor-general of Canada.

Even if the present hostilities in Korea do not spread to other areas, the military tension may be such for a long period of time that men of the military capacity of Lord Alexander will be in demand as consultants to their own governments or to the United Nations.

It seems to be the idea that soldiers of the professional standing of Lord Alexander should not be retained in Canada to do not exercise their military genius.

And much as Lord Alexander is admired and respected in Canada, the force of that argument must be plain to everybody.

Thus there is a good chance that the selection of a new governor-general will be on the cards before very long.

It has been the custom, when such choices are made, for the government of Canada to select certain names and submit them to His Majesty for approval.

We would not suggest that the decision be reversed, that the choice of a governor-general be left entirely to the King, subject, of course, to the approval of the Canadian people, but that an accession of the King himself must have such approval.

We make this proposal, not only because we believe that the man who represents the King should be preeminently the King's own choice, but because there is a likelihood that, under such circumstances, the choice of His Majesty might fall upon a Canadian.

We would have opposed the appointment of a Canadian to the governor-generalship on the sole ground that the right of the King in this respect should not be encroached upon.

But if a Canadian were His Majesty's personal choice, this difficulty would be overcome.

Canada's Claxton Reports On Defences of Continent

The two most powerful states in the world, the U.S. and the U.S.S.R., lie directly south and north of Canada. On Canada's right flank across the Atlantic are its other allies. On its left flank, across the Pacific, is Communist China. Canada is short, in the middle.

Until World War II and the development of intercontinental aviation, Canada has always felt itself reasonably remote from European or Asian battle fronts.

The average amount spent for defence by Britain in the ten years ending March 31, 1949, was $22 million. In 1949-50 Canada made a cash appropriation of $375 million for defence. This year we are asking Parliament to vote $445 million. That means $13.50 for each man, woman and child in Canada, nearly 18 per cent of the national budget, and nearly 3 per cent of the national income.

The right place to defend Canada and what Canadians believe in is as far away from Canada as possible. The mobilization of all our resources would not enable Canada alone to resist an attack concentrated on Canada—hence the need for collective action and collective defence.

actively sent force by air some-where else across the Arctic.

The territory of Canada is so vast that it is obviously impracticable to construct a chain of radar warning stations along its entire length, under such circumstances, the choice of His Majesty might fall upon a Canadian.

We would have opposed the appointment of a Canadian to the governor-generalship on the sole ground that the right of the King in this respect should not be encroached upon.

But if a Canadian were His Majesty's personal choice, this difficulty would be overcome.

Canada is unable to support the massive production and maintenance burden of a large strategic bombing force. The Canadian air force is concentrating on developing jet-fighters and interceptors, emphasizing the latest and best jet-fighters available.

The United States day-fighter, the F-86, will fill one part of the program, and a new Canadian day-fighter, the CF-100, has been designed especially to meet Canadian requirements.

The navy, army and air force, we have today over 40,000 men and officers and men, over 40,000 in the reserve forces and about 25,000 civilian personnel working in the defence effort, or a total of about 120,000 engaged full time and part time in our defence.

Reciprocity Needed

Editor, Bulletin.—With President Truman having cancelled all his social engagements in view of the Korean struggle, I trust up help for his "G.I.s."

Our Prime Minister and the Calgary stampers look just plain silly.

Liberals have always claimed closest "reciprocity" with our American neighbor, who is digging right into a tough job. Now is their time to show to show some of it!

CONSERVATIVE.

Traffic Lights

Editor, Bulletin.—I have never heard the fellow on the street say one commendable thing about the "action police force, and I wondered why. After reading Thursday, July 13 Bulletin, I know why.

Critics are finding out that people will not stand and wait for a green light when there is no traffic. Can you imagine people waiting in the rain or at forty below zero. They will not on a bright summer's day.

Any organization is as good as the man at the head. In business it must be the business goes broke in police work it is the man who makes the best that police.

ONE WHO WILL NOT WAIT.

Common Canadians

Editor, Bulletin.—In the letter of July 17th signed "Ten Citizens" if that gentleman is a true Canadian I want none of it.

Through accident of birth I might say I had the good fortune to be born in the British Empire and my forefathers as far back as I can go enjoyed this good fortune.

During the First Great War I fought with the Canadian troops in the British Empire and my forefathers as far back as I can go enjoyed this good fortune.

Support For U.S.

Editor, Bulletin.—As I stood in a sandbagged hole on an airfield near Custer during the blitz, I would often wonder if the Yanks would ever come in to help us, and I suppose during World War I a lot of other soldiers thought the same. Then the Yanks came, pouring everything they had into the struggle and finally victory was reached.

Still the thought ranked that they had come late and hardly a nation gave them the credit they deserved. At Olympic Games with their over-armed sports squads in some instances they were booed. The rest of the world were envious of them, the American dollar, the high standard of living, etc., and so matter how the U.S.A. would help other nations with food and value and is undoubtedly using it to his advantage and employing his own propaganda to do so.

South Africa has already lost prestige since she has hinted that she is thinking of quitting the Commonwealth and Eire is only a counterpart of what she was when she was a part of the Empire.

A COMMON CANADIAN.

Looking Backward

1890-60 Years Ago

Kite flying occupies a considerable part of the time of the Chinese who recently came to Edmonton. This is something new to this part of the world.

1900-50 Years Ago

Indians in the far north have reported finding the remains of Andrew Jackson.

1910-40 Years Ago

Application has been made in parliament by the CNR for a railway line between Edmonton and Bear River on the Portland Canal.

1920-30 Years Ago

The CPR is completing arrangements with the Provincial government and other interested parties to take over operation of the RR and BC railways.

1930-20 Years Ago

"Droun" has been sold to Great Britain as a base for Trans-Alaska.

1940-10 Years Ago

Viscount Halifax said in the Commons today that Britain will move to share the freedom has been secured.

Premier King says Canada is proud to share Britain's burdens.

Soviet Submarine Presence Probed

Ottawa Apprehensive Over Craft Sighted Near Canada

OTTAWA, July 24.—(CP)—Russia's submarine fleet, one of the great headaches of western military planners, has sent at least one of its underwater warships into the waters off Canada's Atlantic coast.

There may be more. The navy is "investigating," trying to find out.

The submarine, as well as Washington and London, is being kept informed by the navy of this latest development in a cold war that already has turned hot in Korea and has Ottawa apprehensive that it may turn hot elsewhere.

A senior naval officer said that a little doubt that a submarine was by fishermen on Newfoundland's grand banks last week was Russia and he indicated little doubt that the story is well-founded.

Not American. He said checks with both London and Washington have indicated that it was not either British or American. Canada has no submarines. The only other country that could logically have a submarine in those waters is Russia. She has plenty of them.

The first public disclosure came Saturday when the St. John's Sun Herald, Newfoundland weekly newspaper, said Russian subs have been sighted on the Grand Banks. A New Brunswick fisherman said he also had seen one.

The navy here said it has been investigating the same sort of reports but declined to say just what steps are being taken or how many reports there have been.

The RCMP said its anti-submarine squadron based in Nova Scotia will co-operate.

ANTI-SUB EQUIPMENT. The navy has an aircraft carrier, two or three destroyers and some frigates at Halifax that might be put to use to investigate. Some of them have modern anti-submarine equipment.

If the sub or subs remain outside the three-mile limits there is nothing Canada or any other country can do to them. Those are international waters.

Once a foreign sub came inside that limit, Canada's navy could challenge it unless it had permission to be there. Russia, it is felt here, is hardly likely either to ask or to get permission to do so.

These possibilities were canvassed as speculation following Russia's recent CREATING WEEKEND.

1. She may be trying to panic North America into keeping troops and war material at home rather than send them to Asia. This suggestion was injured by the fact that both fishermen's reports have said the subs drifted at once on sighting surface craft.

2. They could be making photo East Germany Reds Approve Five-Year Plan.

BERLIN, July 24.—(CP)—The East German Communist party congress thundered unanimous approval today for a five-year plan calling for a 100 per cent increase in East Germany's industrial output.

The plan was adopted on the final day of the five-day congress of the East German Communist party.

Top Communists said that in addition to doubling industrial production the plan would greatly increase agricultural output, give the area a new merchant marine and generally raising living standards.

Russian Draws Crowd in London. LONDON, July 24.—(Reuters)—The largest crowd ever drawn to London's spacious Trafalgar Square met in this traditional open air meeting place yesterday to discuss peace.

The demonstration, at which Russian Ambassador Gromyko spoke, was organized as part of the British Peace Committee's week-end conference.

Extra police were on duty but there was no disorder. Gromyko appealed to Britons to ban the atom bomb. Speaking in Russian he said the Soviet people wanted peace—only peace. If the Russians had sent Soviet troops into Korea as the Americans did, there would be war now.

BOY WANTS BICYCLE FOR FROG

SAVANNAH, Calif., July 24.—(AP)—Dorothy Willis, 11, wants to trade his pet for a bicycle.

He found the pet the other day along the American River bank. It was a novelty for a while, when he got to thinking he might be able to get that like on a swap. So he inserted a classified advertisement in a newspaper Saturday.

"Live six-legged frog to trade for new bicycle."

Hit Policeman Pays $25 Fine. A young Edmonton man, who pleaded guilty to assaulting a policeman and willfully damaging a car window, was fined $25 on each charge Saturday.

Acting crown prosecutor Paul Beaudry told Magistrate S. G. Main in police court that the accused, Walter Peterson, hit the policeman when he was picked up for questioning.

The blow caused a lip wound that required three stitches to close, he stated.

Const. Alvin Adams reported he saw the accused at 2:50 a.m. July 21, "working" with a screw driver the right front window of a B.C. car on 136 avenue near 96 street.

When approached Peterson threw away the screw driver Adams reported, and walked down a lane.

Adams said he caught up to Peterson at the other end of the lane and got into a struggle with Peterson himself.

Peterson hit him and ran down the street, the policeman said. He was caught a half a block away by the bleeding Adams and bystander Roy Bradley, 1900-07 street, court was told.

Soviet Increases Fleet, Blames Threats of War

By Thomas P. Whitney. MOSCOW, July 24.—(AP)—Russia observed Navy Day yesterday with articles in the press declaring that British and American preparations and war threats make necessary the greatest strengthening of the Soviet fleet.

In a Navy Day article in the magazine Ogonek, Vice-Admiral N. I. Vinogradov said "the threat of war and preparations by American and English imperialists who dispose of large naval forces give rise with particular acuteness to the necessity of the broadest strengthening of our fleet."

He declared the creation of a separate navy ministry early last year at the personal initiative of Prime Minister Stalin was of primary significance.

Admiral Golovikov wrote in Pravda that Stalin, the Soviet people, the Communist party and the government are manifesting the greatest concern in growth of the fleet, construction of new ships, and perfection of the training of sailors.

EX-PRIME MINISTER HAD READY SMILE

A little less than medium height Mackenzie King's square-jawed stocky figure, inclined to effrontery, and his often-uncertain straight hair gave him a boyish appearance at times even in later life.

Generally of serious mien he became known to his friends as a man with a ready smile and at rare intervals a flashing humor.

A stickler for procedure and ethics he made every statement and written report a subject of painstaking preparation.

As Prime Minister, Mr. King had relatively few close friends but was a friendly person to meet whether in large or small gatherings.

WRITER WANTS ANTS HOUSE GUESTS

LONDON, July 24.—(Reuters)—Most British house-hunters are content to get any reasonable sort of home in the present housing shortage, but John Crompton, of Sandhurst, Kent, wants one with spiders and ants in the garden.

Crompton wants the ants so that he can keep an eye on them while writing a book about them.

The spiders he wants for sentimental reasons. He became fond of spiders while writing a book about them and he says he would hate not to have some around.

Son Shoots Father Dead

HULL, Que., July 24.—(CP)—A father was shot to death by his son Saturday night as a long-misunderstanding family feud erupted into a triple shooting.

A J. LaPierre, 66, of Ottawa, was shot four times in the back by the enraged son as he sat drinking beer in a tavern.

The son, Graham LaPierre, 23, was wounded a few minutes later as he attempted to escape from the scene.

Before he was struck in the back by police bullets, the victim seriously wounded George Remillard, manager of a tavern.

Police said LaPierre will face a charge of murder.

Youngster-Built Dike Held Back Lake Flood

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS, B.C. (CP)—In the nursery rhyme it's over the hump built barricade, but each time the youthful dike brigade began again—piling sandbags higher against waves created by passing tugs.

Loggers and business men who stopped to smile at the small-type work gang soon pitched in themselves. But around Harrison Hot Springs it's still "the dike the dike built."

The dike was one which virtually saved a block of business property. The kids are the plucky youngsters who logged heavy sandbags to hold back greedily flooding Harrison Lake from further inundating their community.

When the swollen Fraser River was at its peak in its turbulent rush to the Pacific, Harrison Lake swept over its edges, covering much of the resort town with water.

Adults figured it was just a matter of time before the whole community "got mighty wet." But not the youngsters.

Led by a 14-year-old, driving his father's bulldozer, nearly a score of eager boys in their early teens began lining up sandbags as the water approached. First the dikeers smiled indulgently. Then they saw the youngsters were holding their own.

Engineer Killed, Passengers Safe

HOLLAND, Me., July 24.—(AP)—A northbound Frisco passenger train was wrecked today, killing engineer Ir Woods.

His 68 passengers, riding in two coaches that were derailed, escaped serious injury. The train was wrecked and two other crew members less severely injured.

The state of Utah execution is carried out either by hanging or shooting.

Young Man On Horse was Destined For Greatness As Leader of Canadians

LITTLE BOY on rocking horse, photographed at age of two, was a figure of destiny. Christened William Lyon Mackenzie King, he became prime minister of Canada and served in that office for 21 years, five months and eight days—longest prime ministership in Commonwealth history.

Mackenzie King Lionized By British Newspapers

LONDON, July 24.—(Reuters)—Several British national newspapers today devoted editorials and obituaries to Canada's former prime minister W. L. Mackenzie King, who died Saturday night.

"The Times said in an editorial, 'the death of Mr. Mackenzie King removes a wise and understanding statesman of the commonwealth, who guided the destiny of Canada through nearly all the most vital years of the Dominion's rise to be an international power.'"

"Canada has had little need in its past history of a statesman of the calibre of Mr. Mackenzie King, who guided the destiny of Canada through nearly all the most vital years of the Dominion's rise to be an international power."

"The Conservative Daily Mail said Mr. Mackenzie King was by talent and temperament admirably fitted for the role."

"As a statesman of the commonwealth Mr. Mackenzie King always had regarded both the national unity of Canada and the fact of Canada's continuity to the United States."

"Before the state of Westminster, which bore especially the mark of his thinking, the emphasis was on Canada's independence of action."

"Afterwards his practice left no doubt as to the value he put on the closest association and co-operation with the other members of the commonwealth, although not by institutional forms."

KEYSTONE OF ARCH

"That Canada, not long after his retirement, should become the keystone of the arch of the North Atlantic treaty was in keeping with Mr. Mackenzie King's conception of the commonwealth as part of the larger community of free people."

"There was much that was cautious in Mr. Mackenzie King's politics but nothing that was ever petty or unworthy," the Times added.

"The Conservative Daily Telegraph said in an editorial: 'When Mr. Mackenzie King first assumed the premiership Canada hardly counted in the world of diplomacy. He leaves behind him a country whose authority on the international scene is greater than that of any country of comparable size.'" at once is greater than that of any country of comparable size."

DOMINION STATUS

"To him more than anyone else was due that beneficent relationship in the commonwealth relations, which we call Dominion status, embodied in the status of Westminster."

"He realized perhaps more clearly than many of his countrymen the necessity of having Canada's role as a by-product in the relationship between the British Commonwealth and the United States."

In 1908, growing in stature, he was made minister of labor and was photographed during first election campaign. Riding was Berlin, now Kitchener, Ont.

Quiet Week At Grounds

City police and firemen reported a quiet week at the fair grounds.

There were no serious accidents or crimes and police were busy checking on minor complaints and caring for 1000 "lads" during the week.

Firemen answered five calls most serious being a $6000 blaze in one of the midway wagons.

JACOBY on Canasta

By OSWALD JACOBY

"The other night I was a correspondent in Tuscaloosa, Alabama, my aide needed 120 points for the initial meld. Among the cards in my hand were two jokers, two tens and two sevens. Keep your eye on those sevens, because they were what started the trouble."

"The pile had been from the dealer, who had turned up a red seven, and had then covered it with a black seven. He said that he 'got that large discard pile.' Five sevens had been thrown by the player at my left and by my partner, and I was beginning to think that my own pair of sevens were pretty dead. Then the player at my right drew the only remaining seven in the deck."

"I put down the two jokers with my two tens and then put down two sevens. The opponents raised a howl about this. They said that I had my initial meld without counting my sevens. They insisted that I could not take the pile with out using the sevens as an essential part of my initial meld."

"To keep peace I was obliged to put one joker with the tens and the other joker with my pair of sevens. This gave me a mixed canasta of seven instead of the natural, which I was rightfully entitled to."

"Would you please clear up this point, I tried to prove my side of the argument by referring to your books and to the official laws, but nothing seemed to fit."

My correspondent was quite right, of course. She was entitled to meld the two jokers with the pair of tens. Then she could take the discard pile with her pair of sevens, thus acquiring a natural canasta. The opponents were 100 per cent wrong in their argument that the sevens had to be part of the meld."

The law very clearly states that the first meld for a partnership may be made when the cards melded total a certain minimum. The word "minimum" means the lowest result that you can have; it doesn't mean that you can't have more."

As to the argument that the cards used in the discard pile must be an essential part of that minimum, that was pure invention. The word "minimum" means the lowest result that you can have; it doesn't mean that you can't have more."

This brings me to a point that is often raised in letters on canasta. People will mention some incident as this way say that the law does not cover it. The answer is that the laws can state what you are required to do but they cannot begin to cover what you are permitted to do."

Perhaps I can make this clear by an exaggerated example. Suppose your opponent said you could not make your initial meld unless you stood up on the chair and shouted three times. Obviously you would pay no attention to such foolishness. You would say, if the law was as serious as that, then the laws do not require you to do so and that you won't do what you aren't required to do."

The same is true of all other disputes on the laws. When people argue some new "fancy" law on you, make them show you exactly where the official laws back them up. If it isn't in the law book, it isn't a law."

Adhesive postage stamps were first placed on sale in the United States June 1, 1847.

Mackenzie King And War Leaders

Mackenzie King worked for, and gained in a wide measure, recognition as a strong factor in maintenance of Anglo-American friendship and understanding.

On Christmas Day, 1941, after Prime Minister Churchill had dramatically arrived at the White House, Mr. King went to Washington as the guest of the president and joined in their discussions.

First result of his meeting with Churchill was the announcement that the British Prime Minister would visit Ottawa. A few days later Mr. King was privileged to present Churchill to a hastily called special sitting of parliament for the members of both houses, and to have him sit in at the meeting of the war committee of the cabinet.

More than one occasion Mr. King, as prime minister, welcomed President Roosevelt to Canada but the most historic of these visits occurred in August, 1943, when Roosevelt came to Kingston for an honorary degree, then drove with Mr. King to share with him in the dedication of the international bridge across the St. Lawrence River at Ivy Lea, near Gananoque.

On receiving his degree from Queen's University that day President Roosevelt made the declaration that if Canada should be menaced by a foreign power the United States would be at her side in resisting invasion.

King Had Three Books Published

Three volumes were published by Mr. King.

The first, "The Secret of Herod," appearing in 1906, was a memoir to a college friend and later associate in the department of law, Henry Albert Harper, who died trying to save a woman from drowning in the Ottawa river.

Mr. King was instrumental in having a monument to Harper placed on Parliament Hill. In 1918, largely as a result of his findings while engaged in industrial research for the Rockefeller Foundation, Mr. King published "Industry and Humanity," a study in the principles underlying industrial reconstruction.

King's third volume "The Message of the Carillon and other Addresses," came out in 1927, the year Canada celebrated the 60th anniversary of Confederation. It was a collection of his speeches dealing with the significance of Confederation and other national events.

That Al Pickard Movement

Monday mumbblings... and whatever became of the Al-Pickard-President-Of-The-Western-Canada-Hockey-League movement?

"I can't play a regular season," the CCHA persisted. Then stuck by their guns, though several leagues resisted.

Personal opinion of the new "super" hockey series, so called: Such leagues as the Western Canada, Quebec, O.H.A. and the others scheduled to play for the new trophy, now are just a whisper away from being out and out professional circuits, in name as well as in every thing else.

Note (see p. 8) where the word "senior" no longer will be applicable to these leagues. This department quit using the misnomer two seasons back.

Add happy birthday dept.: Alex Watt, brother of Flyers' Gordon, and former local junior, 41 today; pitcher Ellis Under, Boston Red Sox hurler who has his 10th game at the week-end, 36 Wednesday; Leo (The Lip) Durocher, of the Jets, 44 Thursday; manager Zach Taylor, of the hapless St. Louis Browns, 42 Thursday; Claude Wheeler, Calgary Buffs, 35 Friday; Ted Lindsay, NHL point king of Detroit Red Wings, 25 Saturday.

Total mutual handout for the fair meeting hit the $574,889 mark, up 20 per cent over last year's. Emile Roy, with 10 winners, was the top jockey... Whatever comes of Red Tulloch?

Item: The Hamiltonian, otherwise the "corn-tassel" derby, harness racing, annual classic, goes at Goshen, N.Y., Aug. 9... What with Stan Leonard at Vancouver, Bud Ward at Great Falls, "Smiley" Quick at Livingston, Mont., and Henry Martell and Pete Otykay right here in Edmonton, the dynamic for an outstanding Alberta Open golf tournament wouldn't take much rounding up. What say you, Charlie Smith, president of the Alberta Golf Association?

Prediction: Bernie Anderson, outfielder with Dodgers of the Big Four circuit, will get a bid to a Brooklyn camp next spring.

Attention J. R. S.: Ted Tappe is with Charleston of the Class-A Central league, yes, I think the young fellow has a future in baseball, probably because he hits that long ball... Whatever comes of Steve Canyon?

Suggested theme song, after a day at the races: "Your Dreams Away"... "Do you know the meaning of U. of A. not finding a hockey" who has done well with—and by the department of education, was up from Lab-coat Saturday, trying to turn an honest buck at the track.

Alex Shubicky, former N.Y. Ranger puck ace who has been visiting ex-terminator Neil Colville at the latter's home here, coaches Flin Flin jacks. When Doc Little scored here last week it was the 21st time the Calgary-owned thoroughbred had reached for the ring in 60 starts. That's earnings one keep in a big way.

Add rumors-to-go-round dept.: Doug Lane, so the story goes, will not be with Flyers next season. Instead the big rear-guard, who was one of the Western Canada league's better defencemen last year, will hook on at Saskatoon with his good friend, coach Riley Mullen. The same source has it that Harvey (Pug) Young and another longtime boulevarder with the team, may not be around with the Flyers next season.

At that a good shaking up of WHL team rosters, with an exchange of faces one way or doing it, would be a great thing all round.

Burper Joe Corbett, well known to Cow Palace habitués, is to "play" Australia for the next while... Whatever comes of rascal Pat Mehan, onetime whiz-kid in local "C" circles?

A "Steve Gaber" was paged over the public address at the Free Grounds Saturday. Could this be the little fellow who failed to stick with Saskatoon Knights last winter?

Sympathy of all sportsmen will go out to "Dutchy" Van Deelen because of the tragic and untimely passing of his sister in the night of the weekend. Hockey Van Deelen has had a lot of luck in the past year—some of it good, but a lot more of it the other kind.

JUNIORS IN ACTION

TONIGHT AT RENFREW

Junior Baseball action switches to Renfrew Park tonight as the first round of the northern Alberta playoffs commences. Teams in action will be Edmonton Canadians and the Edmonton night rosters.

Balance of this best-of-three series will be played at home next Sunday.

Maple Leafs of the local league will open a similar series against Barhead Wednesday night and CNR takes on Edison Thursday evening. Both games will be played at Renfrew.

The regular Monday and Wednesday night games at Clarke Stadium have been postponed this week. Tonight's game starts at 8:00 o'clock.

EAC Planning Bolt Junior Grid Circuit

The Edmonton Athletic Club may pull out of the Junior Football league according to word received last night by the Bulletin.

A meeting of club officials will be held tonight to discuss a school circuit, which always draws well. And for that reason, the game would hit the Clubmen where it hurts most—in the pocketbook.

Williamson said they are playing hard to get this year in that they are asking money from the schools to play in both years and can afford to pay coaching wages," said the EAC president.

Geary Steps Hec Fillion

CASPER, July 24.—Benny Geary of Wildwood knocked out Edmonton's Hec Fillion in the third round of the main event of a boxing card staged recently. Geary appeared to pack a punch in both years and knocked his heavier opponent with his hobnobbing and weaving.

Gordon Gray from Vidler and Jim Reid from Cedar battled to a draw in the six-round semi-main event.

REMARKABLE young players with Detroit Tigers are Art Houtteman, left, and Ted Gray. American league-leading Bengals have received brilliant hurling from pair, both of whom are shooting for 20 victories.

Esks threaten Leave CRU Over Payer Dispute

The world is mighty restless these times with what the North Koreans having a few Yaks at the expense of the United Nations.

But occupying the headlines of Canada's sports pages is a regular hyphenated name: Hamilton Tiger-Cats and Edmonton Eskimos. They are a fusion over a pair of players named Earl Vayette and Jack Stewart. It is still in the cold war stage, to coin a phrase, and Hamilton coach Carl Voyles threatens to lead a Tiger-Cat expeditionary force right into six courts to prove his point.

That point is the Valquette and Stewart signed contracts with Hamilton before taking Canadian football to the Eskimos. Vayette said recently that he will go to court before surrendering Stewart and Valquette to Edmonton.

Esks manager Al Anderson's reply was: "A CRU certificate is the only one recognized as binding in Canadian football. If Voyles goes to court he will meanly questioning the validity of a CRU card as compared to a Hamilton contract."

Saturday Anderson wired CRU secretary Percy Robinson, charging "immoral and unethical methods" to prevent Valquette and Stewart from coming here. The wire that Robinson both men were suspended if they fail to report to Eskimos.

"If the CRU doesn't support us," Anderson stated, "we will pull out of it."

Anderson said Valquette and Stewart were given until next Monday midnight to report to Edmonton. If they don't appear, they will be fined $100 on Wednesday, $100 on Thursday, and $100 on Friday, a double whammy.

Fraser's Batting Highlights Match

Ken Fraser acted like the poor man's Sir Don Bradman at the Municipal cricket pitch Saturday afternoon as he led Spaulding to a narrow 151 to 108 win over RCAF.

Fraser scored 75 runs in all, and registered five sixes. During the airforce innings, Fraser was the only batsman to score a century. He was also the only batsman to score a century.

Party-Pretty Drink Is a Summer cooler

By Bea Thrifty

Yesterday's scorching sunshine sagged my spirits more than somewhat!

To restore my limited vigor, vigour and vim I latched onto the chilled bottle of grape juice and a bottle of ginger ale... setting myself up a row of tall, coolers in a brand-new set of frosted glasses.

Since my chills-and-hot days I've been mighty partial to a refreshing gulp or three of grape juice on cooling occasions. It has lots of tanginess, snap and flavor... and is chockful of vitamins besides.

This song and dance grape juice started when I was but a lass, helping my mother as she prepared the purple-sweet Concord for jelly.

When mother's back was turned, my little of me would be into the grapes in a flash.

Now I spend 26c on a bottle of pure grape juice at least a couple of times per month. It's wonderful for the young'un served with cool, clear water or with ginger ale.

It makes a purple-pink drink with a pink foamy head and is party-pretty indeed.

Try it this way for a punch-bowl: Use two cups of grape juice to 6 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/3 cup fine white sugar and a quart of ginger ale.

Chill juices and sugar before adding ale.

And mentioning grapes, I must toss in a scandalized word about a shipment of new-season grapes which arrived here at the week-end.

Land O' Goshen... but the prices are high.

These same big, juicy grapes are selling for a low of 45c per pound.

Horrors... I think a thin, beat-up old quarter is plenty for a couple of pounds of grapes... or at least one pound.

Time will tell the price tale. But the general outlook of this year's fruit price situation is anything but optimistic.

We'll be having more rice pudding for dessert this winter.

I hope you girls realize the versatility of your basic ice-box cookie recipe.

My good-neighbor brought me a plateful of goodies she described as mulligan ice-box cookies.

Her basic recipe included: one cup of brown sugar, packed well, one egg, well-beaten, one teaspoon vanilla, two cups ordinary flour and either 1/2 teaspoon soda or one teaspoon baking powder.

Thorough creaming is the answer for their shortness... although margarine plays a major role in this too.

Addition of any chopped cherries, nuts, coco-nuts, raisins, dates, chocolate chips, or anything cooked dried apricots (very small amount), orange rind and juice, lemon rind and juice, chocolate answers the variety problem.

I always use the walnuts... and one or more of the others. Nuts and chocolate chips make a happy combo.

WHY GROW OLD

What And How We Eat Affects Us Many Ways

By Josephine Lowman

Never take lightly the fact that we are greatly influenced by what we eat.

This is true of the way we look and the way we act and the way we feel. Our hair and our skin are definitely affected by our menu.

Many a woman who is not getting on in life is not getting on in life because she is not getting on in life.

Our personalities also show the impact of the food we eat. This is true of the way we look and the way we act and the way we feel.

YOUR BABY AND MINE

Television Shows Aren't Entertainment For Baby

By Myrtle Meyer Eldred

It is certain that all of us see in a figurative sense—only what we can understand. All other sights are merely compositions of light and shadow, without meaning.

It would seem that any adult would recognize that a baby could not follow a television program.

However, a baby could see motion on a screen, but even motion is confusing, especially when accompanied by sound.

WILL IT HURT EYES?

"I have a four- and one-half month old baby," writes Mrs. A. S. "and I live with my in-laws."

And, there are a number more who are concerned about the baby in front of it to watch the program. Although he seems to enjoy watching it, I wonder if it is good for his eyes.

He hasn't had television long enough for anyone to be able to answer that. But, knowing babies, I can state with emphasis that looking at a television program is not entertainment for them. The four-month-old child is becoming newly aware of color, sound and motion.

Double-Headed Rocket Said Complete Success

Special to the Bulletin
COCOA, Fla., July 24.—(UP)—The first guided missile launched from American soil on a horizontal course soared eastward over the Atlantic ocean today at 3,600 miles per hour.

The rocket, a German-built V-2 with an American-built "WAC Corporal" secondary rocket in its nose, soared 30 miles into the air above the air force's long range proving ground before technicians dipped its nose and sent it on an easterly course over a range cleared of shipping and aircraft.

"A complete success in every way," Col. Harold D. Turner, army ordnance officer in charge of the firing, said.

RELUCTANT DRAGON
The missile, the same rocket dubbed "Reluctant Dragon" and "Twisting WAC" when it failed to fire Wednesday, was launched at 9:20 a.m. EST, an hour and 20 minutes after its scheduled launching time.

The V-2 portion of the missile was projected 15 miles farther than planned by the touch of a control button at the missile base.

Turner said Wednesday that the rocket was capable of "carrying any destructive material now available," presumably including an atomic warhead, said the missile was loaded with precision instruments to test the effect of barometric altitudes at "hyper-sonic" speeds.

Turner said the V-2 was fired on an arc, roughly comparable to the trajectory of an artillery shell. It reached 50,000 feet and was on a downward arc when it exploded at the 30,000 foot level after the "WAC Corporal" was ejected.

He said its top speed was estimated at 3,600 miles per hour. All other information on its performance was classified top secret.

RCAF Aids Child Search

Edmonton RCMP this morning requested RCAF help in a search for a small child lost in the Chert-Bluff district, about 50 miles northwest of the city.

A helicopter, piloted by P.O. D. C. McPherson, flew to the location in 12:30 p.m., where, on the ground RCMP dogs and some 50 civilians are engaged in the search.

Police headquarters in Edmonton said identity of the child had not yet been reported. There also were no details of the youngster's disappearance.

Friends, Enemies Alike Have Praise for King

By the Canadian Press
The men who worked with William Lyon Mackenzie King in his 40 years of public life and the men who fought against him joined today in paying tribute to his service to Canada and the world.

Tributes came from one end of Canada to the other. They came from one end of the democratic world to the other—an indication of the key position in international affairs which Canada reached under Mr. King's leadership.

Among the first messages was one from the King and Queen. In a cable to Viscount Alexander, the governor-general, they said: "His wisdom and wide experience were of constant value in the councils of the British Commonwealth of Nations. While his lifelong service to Canada will ensure him as honored place in the history of his country and in the hearts of its people."

NEWEST MEMBER OF THE NORTH
West Air Command Communications and Rescue Unit is P.O. J. B. Curry, graduate of RCAF peace-time training program. P.O. Curry was active in Air Cadet work and won various scholarships. He is well known in Edmonton and Vermilion districts and attended school in Edmonton and Victoria.

Paper Imposes Self-Censorship
Washington, July 24.—(AP)—The Times-Herald said Saturday in a front-page announcement it has imposed on itself voluntary censorship.

The paper said it will not print designations of service units called in active duty.

GREATEST SERVANT
"No other man will have a larger place or higher claim on the gratitude of his fellow citizens," he added. "... Today the government of our country has lost its wisest, most devoted and the people of Canada their greatest public servant."

Prime Minister Attlee said Mr. King held the office of prime minister longer than any other statesman in Commonwealth history and "rendered eminent service not only to Canada but to the British Commonwealth of Nations."

President Truman said Mr. King's political career was "a distinguished one as it was extended and brought Canada to a new stature of greatness."

Men who for many years were political enemies of Mr. King added their tributes.

George Drew, national Progressive Conservative leader, said: "He was intimately associated at all times with national affairs for half of the years which have passed."

Winston Churchill, wartime British prime minister, "I deeply regret the loss of this great statesman whose friendship I enjoyed for so many years and whose services in Canada and the British Empire will long be remembered."

Prime Minister Nehru of India: "I came to know him... not only as a great statesman of Canada who had played a notable part in the building up of that great country but also as a friend for whom I had respect and affection."

Paul Shumilov Shumilov, former prime minister of South Africa: "He was indeed a Canadian of world significance whose many and great services to his own dominion, to the Commonwealth and to the world will be increasingly appreciated as we gain perspective in the history of our time."

Not 1 But 2 New Cars for $5 Fortune of Edmonton Man

It really sounds impossible, but it's true.

Mr. Ham, 50, isn't in the habit of buying such tickets, but "when it's for a good cause, well, it's worth it."

He had learned of his good fortune at "about midnight" Saturday morning when he was sleeping at the time, and by 2 p.m. had picked up the car and had it parked in front of his home.

Sunday, the entire family, Mr. and Mrs. Ham, their two children, Jane-Anne and Hugh, spent the afternoon "trying out" the new machine.

"It was really a lucky thing," said Mrs. Ham, the 1930 company car had a fast ride.

Mr. Ham is employed as an engineer at a local oil company. "We're going to keep this one last year we sold the Chrysler so that we could build ourselves a house," said the smiling young couple.

Winning the car wasn't the only lucky incident involving Mr. Ham on Saturday. He was one of the winners of the $137 quinnels at the races.

He also has three tickets on a contest involving a house, supposed to be decided tonight, and the whole family are keeping their fingers crossed until the result is known.

A SKUNK, aptly named Stinky, is pet of Fred Svensson, age 13, of 9625-96A street. Fred and some chums have a camp near their home and one night skunk wandered to their camp fire. They fed it, and next day it returned and gradually became Fred's pet. When he goes hiking or fishing, Fred carries it inside his shirt. Fred says that when the skunk grows older he intends to have it "deodorized" or to give it to zoo.

Little Town of Redwater Plans Anniversary Hoedown

BOOTH OPERATOR VICTIM OF ASSAULT

Sixteen juveniles, protesting "inflation" at the Exhibition grounds Saturday night, threw bottles at a refreshment stand proprietor and assaulted him.

According to the complainant, Walter Savdinski, four "teen-aged youths" argued with him over the 10 cents he charged each for a bottle of pop. He said they finally left, threatening to return "with a gang."

An hour later, 16 "teen-agers" came to his booth and started to throw bottles at him, according to Savdinski. He said a number of them even came into his booth and fought with him, before police arrived. He received a bruise on the right cheek.

Three bystanders corroborated his account of the melee.

Calling of Fall Session Rests On Korean War

OTTAWA, July 24.—(CP)—The calling of a fall session of parliament depends on developments in Korea.

Some cabinet ministers say privately that Parliament will not be re-called unless the government decides Canada should contribute to any international force raised by United Nations for service in Korea.

The idea of an international force is being discussed among United Nations secretariat, but so far is an inconclusive, informal way. It is felt here to have its attractions, but also its practical difficulties.

Prime Minister St. Laurent said last week the government is prepared to consider Canadian participation in the recruiting of an international force. But, he added that any plan for such participation would be submitted to Parliament for approval.

Present plans do not call for a reconvening of Parliament to vote more money for defence purposes.

NO DEMAND YET
One cabinet source said that Parliament would be called to deal with the money question only if expenditures climbed far out of line with present estimates.

There have been no demands for a new session from leaders of the opposition parties.

George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, is due to return to his office Monday. He has spent the last two weeks in Western Canada filling speaking engagements and visiting party organizations in the prairie provinces.

It was feared that he has other engagements that will keep him away from the capital for most of the summer.

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, will attend the CCF biennial convention opening this week in Vancouver.

The party may express some view in resolutions on whether it feels Parliament should be recalled.

Blast Protests Stadium Name
PORT JACQUES, France, July 24.—(Reuters)—An explosion Sunday destroyed part of a stand in a new sports stadium here, which was to have been named that of "Joseph Stalin stadium."

On the wrecked stand was painted: "Municipal stadium for sports and politics. We want nothing to do with Stalin."

Stadium is said to have first destroyed August 1, 1959.

REDWATER, July 24.—Second anniversary of what made Redwater famous will be celebrated Tuesday and Wednesday.

Imperial's discovery well, Imperial No. 1, was "spudded in" just two years ago and the tiny town quickly flourished into a thriving community of more than 3,000 people.

All of them are in one way or another dependent on oil.

And the Redwater board of trade and the Athletic Association are together sponsoring a two-day sports tournament as a reminder.

Imperial No. 1 looked like a child that would go for when tests were taken in its infancy. They showed 140 feet of porous oil structure, chosen in Canadian history.

PAIRIES' RICHEST
The well was drilled in at 3,264 feet on Oct. 2, 1948, and Redwater was termed the richest find on the prairie.

Now it has 533 wells producing, including 16 new ones last week. Production is about 27,000 barrels a day and the whole field has an estimated recoverable potential of more than 600,000,000 barrels.

This has begun to shape the history not only of the province but of all Canada.

And the little town, formerly just a wide spot in the road, is rising to the road growth.

It has plans for services which will make life more comfortable for its residents and sponsors of the sports day hope their efforts will make it more enjoyable.

PARADE STARTS IT
Tomorrow the oil companies will have equipment in the parade which will get underway about 12:30 p.m. when the official opening will be held. Baseball games will get an early start at 10, so all eight teams will get a game in before nightfall.

Teams including junior and pee-wee clubs and girls softball clubs will compete for $1,000 prize money.

A Redwater queen will be named from three competitors, Misses Mary Barabash, Mary Boychuk, and Patricia Wyszniak. Winner will be chosen from ticket sales.

HOARDERS MUST PASS PICKETS TO BUY GOODS

PHILADELPHIA, July 24.—(U.P.)—Hoarders will have to cross picket lines here this week.

The Transport Workers Union (CIO) said 3,000 members, veterans of the First and Second World Wars, will parade in front of retail stores to stop scarce buying and food hoarding.

Sound trucks, pamphlets, and placards will be used to convince purchasers they should buy only enough for their immediate needs, local 234 president Andrew Kaelin said.

Venus, second planet from the sun, has a diameter only two or three hundred miles less than that of earth.

King Was Home Loving Boy, and Very Studious

Little has been written of Mackenzie King's youth. He was a home-loving boy and studious from his earliest years. John King, his father, practiced law for a time in Berlin, Ont., (now Kitchener) but had earlier edited a newspaper and was a prominent essayist. The King children were reared in a scholarly atmosphere with the family library the popular meeting place.

After completing studies at the local schools Mackenzie King went to the University of Toronto as an undergraduate in arts and law. He was a fellowship at the University of Chicago where he began a post-graduate course in political economy in 1896.

From his mother, for whom he held a devotion approaching worship, King inherited the traditions and spirit of his grandfather. His mother was born in the penury and isolation of exile following the armed uprising which forced her father, William Lyon Mackenzie, seek sanctuary in the United States.

LITTLE IDEA
During his student years "William" King had little idea of a "political career."

But he gave up that prospect for a deputy minister post at Ottawa when he was eventually into politics.

Mackenzie King never married nor is there any record that he contemplated marriage. His youth was given almost exclusively to his studies and during his early years of manhood he devoted himself to the care of his parents.
